Krusinski Construction expands project work in Valencia, CA

VALENCIA, CA (November 16, 2018) – Krusinski Construction Company (KCC) is proud to announce that it continues to expand its project work in Valencia, California for International Airport Centers (IAC).

Construction is currently underway for a 216,300-square-foot CAL Green Compliant speculative warehouse facility at 29040 Avenue Valley View, just outside of the Santa Clarita area. Krusinski Construction is developing the structure on an existing 11.3-acre site as part of IAC Commerce Center's 9-building campus.

Development will include the build-out of 290 parking stalls to service the proposed multitenant facility. Upon completion, the facility will feature 42 loading docks, two drive-in doors, a membrane roof, and a 1,684-square-foot office space.

While this facility marks Krusinski Construction's first ground-up development at IAC Commerce Center, the firm has recently completed three build-outs at this location that are now occupied by Mechanix Wear, Covercraft, and Accurate Freight.

The project comes at an opportune time for Krusinski Construction as it continues to bolster its work out West in California's Valencia and Fresno cities, and looks to progress its national reach.

With year-end approaching, KCC is proud to share that it will be closing it out with new milestones – the firm will not only be celebrating its 45th anniversary this November but it will also celebrate a substantially expanded project portfolio, with the addition of building in nine new states since its founding.
